Sharing stories of home on the Hill

Do you live, or have you lived in Harold Hill?

Would you be interested in sharing your stories and experiences of home on the Hill?

I am a PhD student at Queen Mary University of London, and my project is a collaboration with local heritage charity, Eastside Community Heritage. The project focuses on what it means to call Harold Hill 'home', and how this relates to different times and places through interviews with local residents. It also aims to develop a living archive for Harold Hill.

If you live or have lived in Harold Hill, and would be interested in participating in the project by taking part in an interview focusing on what it means to call Harold Hill home, please email Jade Hunter: j.e.hunter@qmul.ac.uk
